Family Tree Book Pages

A4 Family Tree Book pages for you to fill in and then insert into a binder.

There are many book versions of this type of system for recording your family information but the publishers decide how many of each page to print whereas with our loose leaf system you decide what pages are needed and errors may be easily discarded and replaced.

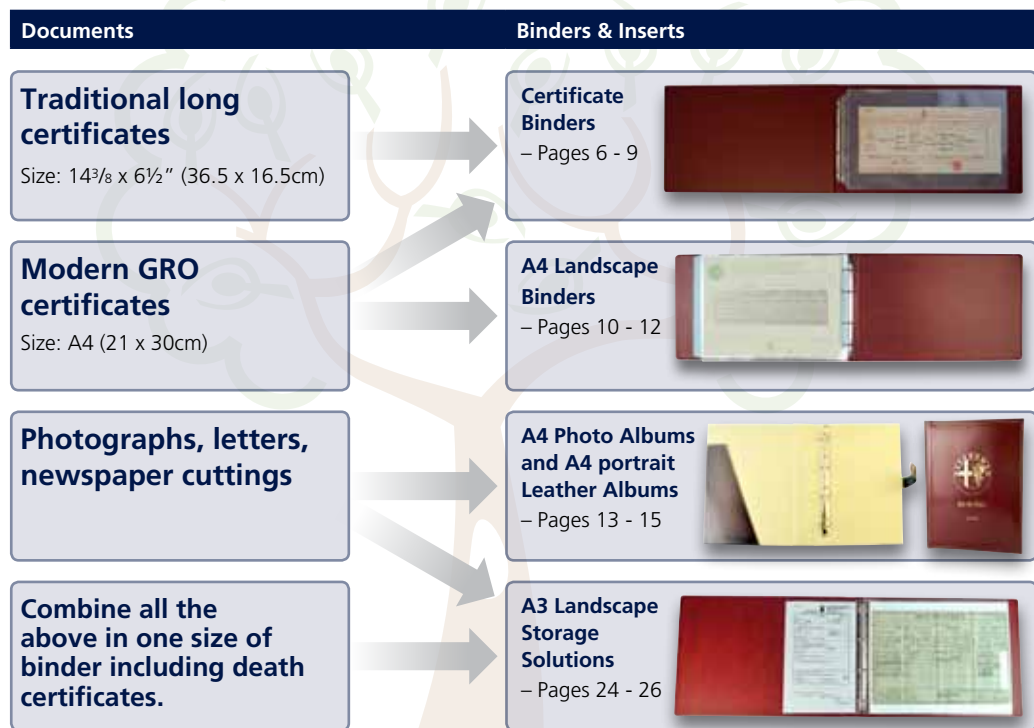

Please see page 40 for more details and prices.

Are you serious about preserving your past?

Are you having difficulty storing certificates in ordinary A4 folders? Do you have concerns about the long term storage of old photographs? Do you know the life expectancy of the paper you are printing on? These are just some of the concerns our customers have about preserving their research for their own descendants. Did you know that even storing data on CDs can be problematic as these can deteriorate over time and once corruption begins whole photographs and sections of data can be lost forever. Serious archivists still prefer to see printed documents as these have been proven to last hundreds of years if printed out on acid free paper and stored carefully.

We stock a range of archive binders, albums and boxes, which are all recognised by archivists, museums and libraries to provide you with a vast array of archive solutions to choose from.

Not sure which binder to purchase? Here's our simple guide:

TIP: What order should documents go into a folder?

There is no right or wrong way for this but many genealogists use the divider sets to divide up their documents by family name. Within a name you could file a marriage certificate followed by the birth certificates of any children and the death certificates of the parent followed by the marriages of children and their families etc. It is probably more interesting to file the oldest documents first followed by more recent additions towards the back of the binder.

Certificate Storage Solutions – Traditional

There are four binders to choose from that will allow you to store your traditional (long) and modern GRO certificates all in the same binder.

Standard Certificate Binder (Traditional long certificate size - supplied empty)

This standard binder is an excellent first binder for beginners. It is perfect for storing those awkward shaped marriage and birth certificates, without having to resort to folds and creases. These binders hold up to 40 of our extra-long pockets allowing archival storage of 80 traditional certificates if they are inserted back to back in the pockets.

Don't forget to order more pockets, card or dividers if you wish to sub-divide your folder.

There is a small pocket on the spine for inserting a name card.
Dimensions 17½ x 10¾ ins (450 x 270mm) approx.

ASCB5 - £13.95

Please state colour: Burgundy Red, Blue, Green or Black

Small Inserts Pack for Traditional Certificates

Why not add one of our insert packs to your order and save a little money on buying the inserts separately. There is a larger pack containing 25 pockets and card on page 7.

Pack contents:

- 10 x Certificate pockets - ACP
- 10 x Certificate white cards - ACC
- 1 Set of 5 dividers – ACD5

Buy one of the binders on pages 6-8 and add this insert pack for an additional £11.90 (SAVES £2.00)

TIP: Where may certificates be ordered from?

Once you have the name and location of a birth, death or marriage as well as the quarter year in which it happened then you will need to order from the relevant local registrar or from the General Register Office (GRO) at Southport. The web address for the GRO is www.gro.gov.uk

Deluxe Certificate Binder (Traditional long certificate size - supplied empty)

A quality binder for storing those awkward shaped marriage and birth certificates without having to resort to folds and creases. This padded binder looks good and feels good. Will hold up to 40 pockets allowing archival storage of 80 certificates if inserted back to back in the pockets. The PVC binder lays flat when open and has a high quality 4 ring mechanism plus a transparent pocket on the spine.

Dimensions 17½ x 10¾ inches (44.5 x 27cm) approx.

Storing Old Photographs

There are two aspects to storing photographs.
1) How best to store the originals. 2) How best to pass copies of them on to various descendants. (Of course one lucky descendant will get the originals). From an archiving perspective it is important that your old photos are stored to prolong their life.

Scanning them will allow you to present them in family tree charts, reports or dedicated photograph albums that may be duplicated as many times as you wish.

We do not recommend encapsulating photos in plastic using a laminating machine or the use of albums with stick down plastic coverings. This can be harmful to photographs even in the short term.

(Supplied empty)

These padded PVC A4 folders matching the certificate binders have a 4 ring mechanism that accepts a variety of transparent polypocket A4 pages. Dimensions: 11 x 12⁵/₈ x 2" (28 x 32 x 5cm). Holds up to 40 of the pockets illustrated on pages 16-17 & 19.

ADPA - £13.95

Available in; Burgundy Red, Dark Blue, Cedar Green or Black (colours match the Jumbo Album)

Extra wide dividers

Extra wide to allow them to extend beyond the width of the pockets.

See page 18 for divider prices.

A4 Photo Pocket Pages

Do not confuse these products with the cheaper PVC pockets available from high street shops. PVC is not good for archiving and should be avoided at all times. Our album pages are made from inert, (acid-free) clear polypropylene as used by libraries and archiving departments. The thickness of the material used to make these pockets is also several times thicker than ordinary pockets.

All these pages will fit the following:

Family Historian v7 (Released Nov 2020)

Record everything you find out about the people in your tree including family stories and other snippets of information. This easy to use software allows you to add everybody including 2nd marriages, adopted parents and more. A modern professional program from a UK software developer, Family Historian has some excellent features such as its ability to let you select images of individuals from family photos for use in the tree. Recommended for beginners and professionals.

Focus Screen

This window makes Family Historian easy to use, allowing the user to navigate up and down their tree with ease.

Four different tabs on the focus screen allow you to view:-

- i) Spouses and Children of particular individual,
- ii) Parents and Siblings of an individual,
- iii) Ancestors and
- iv) Descendants

The right hand panel for data entry is customisable allowing the user to decide what fields appear on screen.

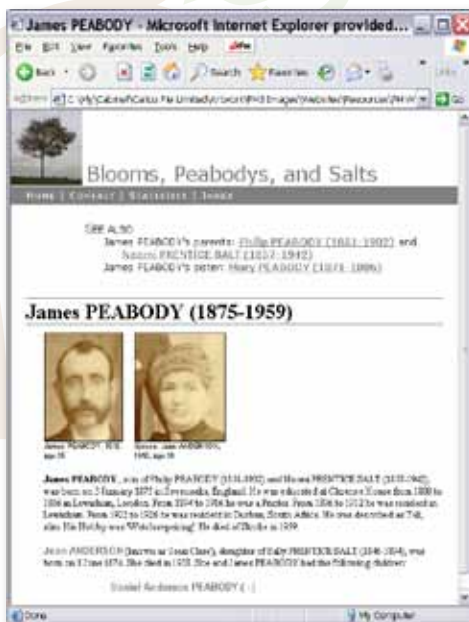

Share your research

Family Historian lets you share your research with others using not just charts but also websites, family tree CDs, reports and more...

Charts, Diagrams and Smart Trees

Instantly create Ancestor, Descendant, Hourglass and Everyone diagrams, as well as Family Historian's unique All Relatives diagrams.

Diagrams are tightly integrated and used for browsing, exploring and editing – as well as for creating superb wall charts. All diagrams are fully adjustable and images of individuals are easily included. You may also add as many extra images and additional text boxes as required.

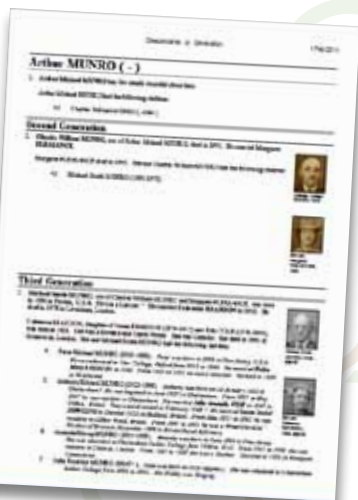

Smart Trees give you great control over your charts.

Creating websites is easy with the website wizard.

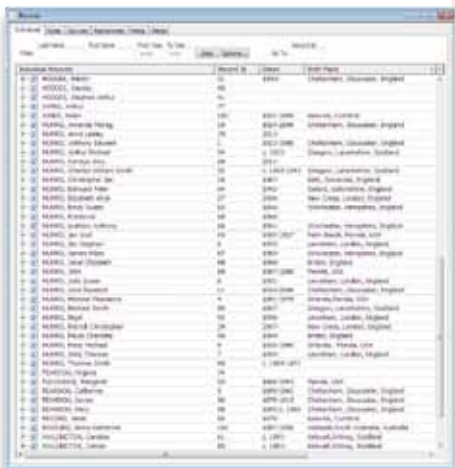

Reports

Family Historian comes with 28 fully-featured and highly-configurable reports, including narrative reports. A wide choice of options are provided for the display of pictures (and captions) and also sources. Creating superb and stylish websites to display your family tree is easy using Family Historian's powerful website wizard. Or, just as easily, you can create your own family tree CDs to give to family members.

Easily find people in your tree

The records view allows you to sort people in name, birth date, death date or birth place order etc to make it easy to find people in your tree.

Easy indexing of all the people in your tree

Pictures and multimedia

With Family Historian, not only can you add as many pictures as you like for each person, you can also add a picture once and then link it to each person in the picture. You can even link each person to their own face in the picture

Link each person to their own face in any picture

Family Historian's support for Sources is Second to None

- letting you keep detailed records of the sources of your information, and the location of these source documents (repositories). You can even store images of sources (e.g. scanned images of documents).

If you are upgrading from versions 1,2,3 or 4, please contact us for instructions.*

Why use Family Tree Maker when you have a perfectly good account on Ancestry.co.uk?

An online family tree at Ancestry is how many people get going with their family tree research and it can work well until you wish to start printing reports and charts to give out to family members. The online facilities for creating printed reports and wall charts either don't exist or are extremely limited in what they can do. There can also be problems with online trees where people in the tree get duplicated. This can be down to errors that occur when a user deletes people in the tree that have other relatives attached or simply tries to delete a person with children in a marriage where the wrong partner has been attached. Online these errors are not easy to spot and the greater the number of people in the tree the greater the chance of mistakes creeping in.

By purchasing the Family Tree Maker program you will be able to manage your tree much more efficiently and have more control over your data plus it will reduce the requirement of paying for a continuous Ancestry subscription just to be able to access the source images linked to your file. The program will download everything attached to your tree for permanent use on your Windows or Mac computer.

Here is a quick overview of just four facilities that you get with the program that are not available online:

Where to Record It: In Family Tree Maker

A quick guide to entering information about your family into the new Family Tree Maker program.

This booklet explains in just 24 pages where to enter records from Birth, Marriage and Death certificates including how to record them as sources.

WRFTM11 - £3.95

So you are totally new to Family Tree Maker 2017

The author John Donaldson has been writing about Family Tree Maker for 20 years and this 50 page booklet is intended for the absolute novice (whether Windows or Mac) to get started in Family Tree Maker.

The book takes the user through installation, registration plus setting up new family files, or importing new files. Extensive use is made of screen shots to assist the user to understand what he or she is seeing on the screen

Publishing Your Family History

At My History we are always looking for ways to make your life easier when it comes to sharing your family history research with others. We know how tedious it is sticking lots of pieces of paper together to make a chart or printing and photocopying many pages of work in order to pass on knowledge to others in the family.

There is always a feeling that there is more work to be done but at the same time wouldn't it be wonderful to give a beautifully bound copy of your work or a quality rolled up chart as a present to someone else in the family. What better way to pass on your work for others to treasure in future years.

Do something today; don't just leave your work to chance for descendants to stumble across in digital format.

On the following pages we offer; pre-printed charts for you to fill in, our chart printing service, springback binders and our new 'print & bind' book publishing.

A4 Archive Quality Permanent Paper (Acid-Free)

You can print your family tree information including photographs onto this paper knowing it has been guaranteed by the manufacturer for 200 years. Suitable for use in both inkjet and laser jet printers, and of course you may also write on it.

This paper goes one better than Acid-free paper. It conforms to a particular set of standards such as pH level, alkaline reserve (calcium carbonate equivalent), tear resistance and resistance to oxidation. It is the alkaline reserve that helps the paper resist contamination from external sources over the years.

AQP

90gsm Paper - Pack of (25) £2.20, (100) £7.95, (500) £20.95

100gsm Paper - Pack of (25) £2.95, (100) £10.95, (500) £24.95

Tip: If you are putting white paper behind photographs or documents in our A4 pages on p16 - 19 then we strongly recommend that you also use this type of paper to preserve anything that is intended to be kept for generations.

We also sell:

Archival Quality Matt Finish Photographic Paper

- A high quality photographic paper for anyone wishing to reprint old photographs (see website for details).

Archive Quality Self-Adhesive Labels - In 3 sizes made from 100% cotton fibre suitable for printers and acid-free pens. Please see our website for details.

A4 Archive Quality Permanent Cream Paper (Acid-free) - 100gsm

Made to the same standard as our other permanent paper (see page 38). Use with laser or ink-jet printers, or you could just write on it.

Fine Writer Pen

Ideal for writing in small spaces, this high-quality black acid-free pen with a tip size of just 0.1mm allowing you to write very finely. Particular useful with our 10, 6 & 7 Generation charts and our Family Tree Journal where space is limited.

Archival quality, Acid-free & Lightfast (non-fade).

FWPEN - £2.95

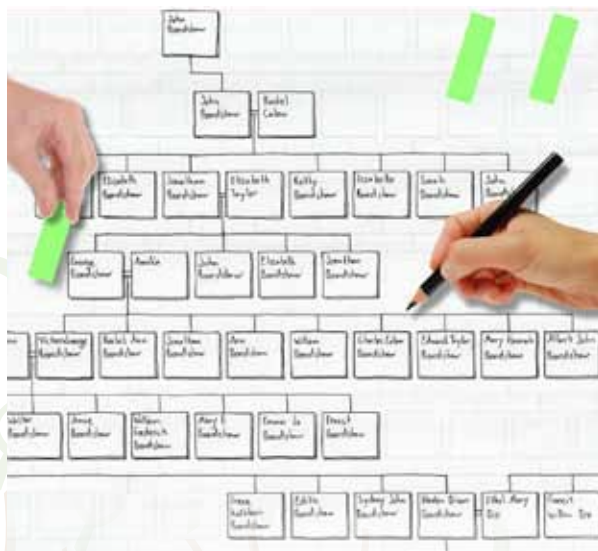

Working Charts

We have spent considerable time getting this idea just right for customers who wish to write up their family tree by hand. It will be especially useful where there is a desire to show siblings and their descendants on the chart as there are no predetermined family structures thus allowing you to add any number of siblings to a family. Works best for any family tree relationships because it has no predetermined structures, thus allowing you to add siblings, spouses and cousins to a family.

Printed with faint lines and boxes that are un-noticed when the chart is filled in with pencil or ink pen. There are 22 boxes per linear metre on each row of the chart. When considering the length of chart required you will need to think about the number of children in each generation that you wish to record. We also advise leaving at least one box space between families to make the chart easier to follow. Each box is 38 x 30mm.

Supplied with mini sticky notes and instructions to help you plan your chart. Two heights of chart available; 24 inch - 10 generations or 33 inch - 14 generations. Ordering longer lengths and cutting to the length required will save you money.

Ink

We insist on high quality ink for our printing service, as these have proven to be fade resistant when compared to cheaper alternative inks.

If your chart has a background which covers the entire chart, there is an additional charge of £12 per print. Please be advised that where this background covers the entire chart, there may be imperfections in the print quality, due to ink saturation and you are advised that this is beyond our control. We can remove the background if instructed by you to do so.

Our website www.myhistory.co.uk has lots of hints and tips to help you with your chart and even includes help sheets which you may download for your favourite family tree software or online tree service.

Why not store your chart in one of our luxury tubes? See page 47 for details.

Bespoke Design Service

We can take your program data file, gedcom or handwritten chart and create a chart to your specification.

Handwritten charts start from £25 per 50 names to proofing stage.

All bespoke services require an initial £40 deposit payable in advance. This may be ordered and paid for online here: www.my-history.co.uk/bespoke

Turn Your Family History into an Unforgettable Gift

If you've been doing your family history for a good few years, then why not show off your work in a bound book. How many of your relatives have received a copy of the family history or even seen your work?

Well now you have the opportunity to present your story in a professionally finished bound book that can't fail to capture the interest of any family member. Your family history book will be treasured not just for a few months or years, but for generations. Giving an unforgettable gift is just one of life's delights and then just imagine how many generations will appreciate your endeavours.

Please see our website for frequently asked questions, prices and instructions for making your book ready for us to print: www.my-history.co.uk/book

Have you always wanted to turn your research into a book, but were unsure of where to start?

We can now produce a .pdf digital copy of your book using your gedco file. Simply email your gedcom file to charts@my-history.co.uk, stating the root person of your book.

The book will include a front cover & contents page. Please note any amendments due to data entry errors in the file will incur additional charges. See page 51 of this catalogue for help on how to create a gedcom file.

Files over 10MB see website for details on how to use our upload facility.

GEDBOOK £15.00 per root person.

See website for full details & printing discounts.

Family History and Plain Springback Book Binders

The perfect way to print and present your family history in book form. Our springback book binders allow you to bind up to 250 sheets of A4 (90gsm) paper by just folding the cover back on itself, inserting the pages and when the cover is closed the edges of the pages are gripped tightly.

You may remove and reinsert the pages as many times as you like thus allowing your publication to grow over time. There are no holes to punch and the quality and feel of the finished work is more like a book than any ring binder. These binders help you make the perfect gift when presenting a printed family history to other members of your family.

Please take a look at the springback binder video on our website.

Tip: If you wish to print your pages before purchasing a binder, don't forget to allow at least a 32mm (1¼") margin down the edge of the paper.

We are now able to personalise these binders using our foiling service, see website for full details.

Features:

- Landscape or Portrait format
- Printed gold block lettering on front and spine
- Plain finish binders available
- Add or remove pages as your family history grows
- 3 Different cover materials
- Hardback covers with inner acid-free lining
- Holds up to 150 sheets 'Standard' (25mm) binders and 250 sheets 'XL' (50mm) binders
- Acid-free inner leaves
- Binder slipcase sets available

How to insert pages in your Springback binder:

1 Bend cover back

2 Insert pages into spine

3 Close binder

Please see page 42 for rolled versions of this chart.

Personalised Gold Foiling

My History are delighted to be able to offer a foiling service to a range of our binders. What better way to enhance your Family History projects further than by giving the binder an even more professional look! Each binder in this catalogue that is suitable for personalisation has the  symbol next to it.

NEW!

Normally we use fondemento font, but if you have a specific request, please talk to the team before ordering.

Due to the nature of the foiling process, there will be natural imperfections, but this in no way detracts from the overall finished look.

Charges apply, see website for details .

Please Note: Bespoke items are non-refundable.

Plain Springback Binder with Window

This Springback Binder with a cut out window on the front cover allows you to personalise your book. Personalise the binder yourself by printing your own sheet to show through the window, or alternatively we can create it for you on a sheet of our cream 100 gsm acid free paper. See website for further details.

Bookmaking Information

Some family tree software packages will allow you to set up a series of reports and charts in the form of book pages. The software will allow you to write a title page and automatically create a contents page and an index. It also numbers all the pages thus making a complete work for publication and distribution to other family members.

Whilst we are convinced at My History that many younger members of the family will be happy to receive your work in digital format by way of a website on CD or a copy of your data file, we also believe that there is no better way of preserving a link to the past than with a printed document. This is because we believe it is still the most accessible way to present information to a wide audience and will never be reliant on any technology other than the quality of the paper used.

The information presented does not have to be every detail from your tree and at the very least will provide an introduction to the family archive encouraging our inquisitive descendants to access the extra data locked away in a digital format.

Two of the most popular packages at the moment for producing books are Family Tree Maker and Family Historian.

We can also produce a .pdf digital book for you, using your gedcom file. See page 55 and website for further details.

Trade Directories and Data CDs

We already have over 200 trade directories scanned from all over the UK. In 2019 we have stepped up our scanning to try and get the backlog down and all directories are now available for download at our sister website TWR Computing as well as on DVD from www.my-history.co.uk.

For downloads please go to www.my-history.co.uk/htd

What's in a Directory?

These directories will often indicate both a business address and a home address for people in business or professionals from shoemakers to solicitors and landlords of pubs, beer houses and Inns. They often also include a huge amount of extra information such as; details of towns and villages, times of coaches and delivery services etc.

Whilst this won't always help you find a family member it can assist you with understanding what a place was like when your ancestor lived there. This information can often be added to your family history to make it a more interesting read.

To the left is just a sample of a page from a directory indicating the diversity of the businesses included in such a publication. There is often a separate section for residential addresses.

The adverts in these directories are also fascinating to read as they will often give a clue as to what our ancestors were likely to be buying to keep up with the latest fashions and technology.

More Directories to Scan

In addition to the directories listed we have a large backlog of directories to scan over the coming year so please take a look at our website occasionally to see the latest listings: www.my-history.co.uk

Introduction to DNA Tests

DNA testing is a bit of a minefield and it is not just about price when it comes to choosing a provider. On this page we try to give you some idea of the likely companies you will come across within the Genealogy market.

Perhaps even before you get tested you may be interested in an excellent book (below) that gives you some seriously good indications of what you might learn from having a DNA test.

Visit our website at www.my-history.co.uk/dna for the latest hints and tips and links to the sites shown on this page along with up to date prices and any offers available.

Here are a few tips to consider:

- Once you have been tested your DNA results will give you an insight into where in the World some of your ancestors may originate from.
- Any results you receive are based on the the testing of millions of people that has been done so far. As more people are tested it is quite possible that your origins or at least the percentage breakdown of your origins will alter so it is always worth going back and checking your results over time.
- Ancestry is by far the largest company in the Genealogy testing arena so your results are compared to their records which may give you a more accurate result quite early on.
- Another aspect of DNA testing is the possible matches to cousins and other relatives. If others in your family have had a test done with the same company then it is possible that they will be listed as likely relatives. Obviously this could be someone already known to you or in the case of a 2nd, 3rd or 4th cousin for instance it may be someone you are not already aware of.
- WARNING: Just as people are breaking down brickwalls and finding family connections to previously unknown fathers there is always the possibility that a hitherto assumed family relationship is proven to be incorrect. We recently spoke to someone at an exhibition who had only just found out that her father was not who she thought of as her father.
- It is often worth testing two family members, close or distantly related as the proportion of DNA passed down from a father and mother can vary considerably between siblings. By having one or more sets of results to compare you may get a more realistic idea of your ancestors origins. It is this random inheritance of genes that often makes us look slightly or greatly different to our siblings.

DNA for Genealogists

A very accessible 58-page booklet showing how you can use DNA to harness this exciting new range of genealogical research tools. This publication provides a contextual understanding of DNA suitable for genealogists and discusses the currently available tests that are likely to be of interest to family historians, especially those wanting to prove (or disprove) compiled family trees, to connect 'new' relatives by means of inherited genetic material.

Searching for your Ancestors Online

What is the best site for searching for ancestors?

We often get asked this question and over the years our answer hasn't really changed. There are two large suppliers of data that most genealogists will need to link to at some point in their research. Findmypast and Ancestry are both excellent sources for records and for various reasons when you can't find something on one, you may well find it on the other. However other sites such as Family Search, Forces War Records, Free BMD, My Heritage and The Genealogist all have something to offer and even more so when you consider that they are probably the ones specialising in smaller record sets that the larger suppliers are perhaps ignoring. Please go to our website www.myhistory.co.uk for a more detailed explanation of the above sites.

Free or Subscription websites

There are a few sites on the internet where you may search for your ancestors without being charged. For a full list of these please see the right-hand side bar of our home page at www.my-history.co.uk. Other sites such as Find My Past and Ancestry charge for viewing their records not only because of the high cost of scanning them but also because they are investing in scanning and transcribing even more records. You may purchase subscriptions online at My History.
